Building Bridges Instead Of Walls

From the turbulence of modern elections to protests over police brutality in communities of color and fears of domestic terrorism from radicalized white nationalists, America is increasingly divided by fierce debates among citizens divided by race, class, culture, and belief systems. Often it seems the nation's media outlets either fumble to understand the issues at hand or they cynically exploit the controversies to build ratings, revenue, and influence, regardless of the cost to society. Join speaker and NPR contributor Eric Deggans as he walks us through these topics during Building Bridges Instead Of Walls on Thursday, February 25th from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. via Zoom.

SGA Town Hall

It's Social Justice Week! Let your voice be heard and let us know your thoughts at the Student Government Association Town Hall on Monday, February 22nd, and Tuesday, February 23rd at 11:30 a.m. via Zoom.

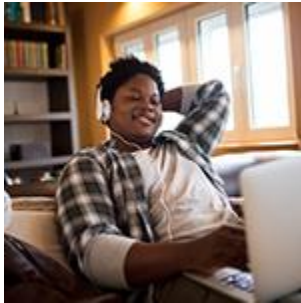

Let's Talk About Human Rights

Do you feel you have all the human rights you need? Do you ever feel your human rights are being violated? Do some groups require special human rights? Does this mean they have more rights than others? Join Dr. Brandon Jett, Dr. Bruno Baltodano, Dr. Jacquelyn Davis, Dr. Sonji Nicholas, and Dr. Elijah Pritchett to discuss what you think the answers are to these questions at the Let's Talk About Human Rights event on Monday, February 22nd at 4:00 p.m. via Zoom.
